Insect Defense

When insects injure a farm crop, the attack often comes at the edge of the field, orchard, or woodland—not at the center. If the fence rows or edges of the fields are attractive to birds, the farmer has an auxiliary line of defense against the insects. The birds may be able to destroy some of the insects before the insects can lay their eggs. This is one of the reasons that may make it wise to make the edges of fields attractive to wildlife.

Referendum July 20 On Flue-Cured Tobacco Quotas

There will be a referendum July 20 on the flue-cured tobacco growers on the issue of providing quotas for the next three years. The referendum will be held before the opening of the markets and any loan applicants to support the markets depend upon a decision by the growers in the marketings. No quotas are approved for only one year, but there would be less stable, prices might be strengthened less and the farmers on the export side of the question would be less, if there were held Tuesday night at the school and Wednesday at the home of A. H. Rush.

Times Virginian
Calvin H. Robinson, Editor
Dear Mr. Robinson:

During the week it is our purpose to bring as much information to the farmers that may be useful to us and business men. We are in critical condition in regard to flue-cured tobacco, as no one knows what the outcome will be. The problem now of farmers, warehousemen, and business men and interested in tobacco is to have a program and a working at cross purposes.

Meeting to be held at the Circuit Court of Appomattox, Va. present stocks of flue-cured on hand 1,450,000,000 pounds the normal annual consumption flue-cured is 600,000,000 pounds. The 1940 program be determined at Washington, D. C. July 20 1940 at 10:00 A. M. to consider and act upon said proposals as follows:

That the Statewide open hunting season for grouse quail, turkeys and rabbits shall be November 20—January 5, inclusive.

That the bag limit for quail shall not exceed eight a day.

That the Statewide open season for hunting squirrels shall be September 1—September 15 and November 20—January 5, inclusive, and except in counties wherein special legislative acts provide otherwise.

That the Statewide trapping season for mink shall be January 1—March 15, inclusive.

That the Statewide open hunting season for elk shall be November 11 12 and 13, 1940.

That it shall be lawful to hunt game birds with a bow and arrow.

That the open hunting season for groundhogs, or woodchuck, shall be September 1—January 5 inclusive.

By order of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

Plans Underway For Tobacco Festival

South Boston, July 10.—The National Tobacco Festival, a commercial celebration in the United States will stage its sixth annual event on September 5 and 6. Though the war is occupying much of the front space in the newspapers, Americans enjoy celebrations and will be glad to welcome this innovation.

America first made tobacco' and it can be truly said that tobacco made America, hence we all owe a debt to this great agricultural product' from which millions of farmers gain their livelihood and millions of workers draw their weekly wages.

The National Tobacco Festival supplies only the highest class entertainment. An outdoor pageant is the outstanding feature, which depicts graphically the history of tobacco in several episodes; a fifty float parade, all 'adorned by beautiful girls, with twenty or more bands and drum and bugle corps; round and square dances, tobacco planters contest for typical tobacco auctions, and other features. 35,000 visited the first event in 1935, and the first year's 150'000 from every state in the Union attended.

The first queen was Miss Westwood Byrd, now Mrs. R. H. Kern, daughter of United States Senator and Mrs. Harry Flood Byrd; second was Miss Eve Mark-Wardlaw, daughter of the Commander of the British Navy; third was Senorita Rosario de Blanck, daughter of the Cuban Minister to Great Britain; fourth, Senorita Erma Castilla Navjera, daughter of the Mexican Ambassador to the United States; and last year, Miss Mary Pickford, of Hollywood, the sweetheart of the silver films.

Orchestras have been: Little Jack Little; Ted Lewis; Guy Lombardo; Hal Kemp and Glen Grey.

A wedding of widespread interest took place Saturday afternoon at 4:30 in the First Baptist church in Petersburg when Miss Virginia Lee Thompson, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William Gayfield Thompson, became the bride of John Sanford Hill, son of Mrs. William Ward Hill and the late Mr. Hill of Amherst.

Before the ceremony, Irving J. Harley, organist of the church rendered a half-hour musical program including Intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana, Bridal Song from Jensen and Gounod's Ave Maria, Swedish Wedding March; Grieg's Ich Liebe Dich and Molloy's ever popular Love's Old Sweet Song, and two vocal selections were sung by Mrs. Carleton Roberts of Alexandria, Mr. Harley also played during the ceremony the soft strains of Liszt's Liebestraum.

BAIRD—FITZGERALD

A quiet marriage, though one of widespread interest, took place at the Presbyterian manse in Appomattox on June 29th at 9 P. M. when Miss Jessie Davis Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell Fitzgerald of Pamplin, became the bride of Albert Franklin Baird, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Baird of Dillwyn. The Rev. B. E. Redding was the officiating minister.

The bride was gowned in an ensemble of navy blue and white with white accessories. She is a graduate of the Pamplin high school and of the Boston Beauty School at Roanoke, having now the sole owner and proprietor of the Bonnie Beauty Shoppe at Appomattox. Her attractive personality and proficiency have won for her a large clientele in her business as well as many friends.

The ancestry of the bride is an interesting one. Her mother, the former Margaret Graham Davie, who came to America when she was twelve years old from Scotland, is a grand-daughter of the late Lady Margaret Graham of Edinburg, Scotland. Members of this family continue to occupy the ancient castle near that historic city. The Fitzgeralds were also of an old Scottish family.

The groom attended Buckingham high school. He is interested in agricultural pursuits and the couple will make their home at "Locust Hill," the ancestral home of Mr. Baird which is located near Dillwyn.

Mrs. Baird will continue, at least for the present to operate her business in Appomattox, after returning from a wedding trip to points north.

SAYS FATHER DARKLEAF

M. P. Porter, who lives near the Liberty Cemetery here, says that many out-of-state cars drive up to the cemetery and ask where Confederate graves are. He re-routes them to the Confederate Cemetery at the Old Court House.

That's but another reason why the Cemetery should be kept more neatly.

Appomattox Now On Top In Skyline Baseball League

George Powell, who subdued Craddock Terry last Saturday will pitch for Appomattox.

The price of admission to the local park has been changed to the established price 27c and tax 5c, total 30c Most of the local fans have expressed the opinion that they might as well pay 50c as 35c, and the ball club had experienced a lot of difficulty keeping change on hand for the 35c admission price.

Billy DeFord hurled Appomattox to an easy 12 to 2 victory over Altavista Spout Spring last Saturday. DeFord has a record of giving up only 3 earned runs in 58 innings, and pitched 47 scoreless innings up to the eighth inning of last Sunday's game, when he eased up behind a 12 run lead.

Bob Sagnetto broke up Saturday's game with Craddock-Terry with a triple in the last of the ninth inning to send in the winning tally. Nat Rosser had tied the score earlier in the game with a home-run.
